

WIND FANNED
HUGE FIRECity of Jamestown, N. Y.,
Threatened Today

AS ON SUNDAY MORNING

Second Big Fire in 24 Hours Caused a Loss of Half a Million Dollars.
The Sherman House Destroyed.

Jamestown, N. Y., March 14.—Starting in the ruins of the Gokey building, which was burned Sunday morning with a loss of two lives and $100,000 in property, fire today destroyed the Duffy building, the Sherman House and the offices of the Western Union and the Bell Telephone companies with a loss of $800,000. The entire city was endangered at one time.

Three lives were sacrificed. A wall fell and crushed Policeman Hanson to death. George King and Alfred Shomister were fatally hurt under falling telegraph poles. The total loss is to-day's and yesterday's fires is $750,000.

To-day's fire broke out at one o'clock this morning, being fanned by a heavy wind. The Duffy building was adjacent to the Gokey building, and the rapid spread of the flames soon caused all hope of saving it to be lost. One hour later the Duffy building fell in ruins and the flames ate their way into the next building. Desperate efforts were made to save the Sherman House, which was one of the finest hotels in western New York, but to no avail as the flames soon conquered it, as well as the office of the telephone and telephone companies.

Ald was called shortly after the Duffy building fell, from Buffalo and two engine companies were sent. The high wind, which was blowing, made the fight against the fire very difficult, together with the shutting off of the electric power, which left the city in darkness. Electric lights were extinguished, and at quarter past two o'clock, all wire communication with the outside world was lost as the flames made progress toward the offices of the telephone and telegraph companies.

HEAVY DAMAGE IN WINOOSKI.

Blaze Started Around Chimney and Was Well Underway When Discovered.
Winooski, March 14.—Fire early Saturday morning on the second floor of the Herwick block, at the corner of Main and West Center streets, caused several thousand dollars' damage and several families living in the block had difficulty in escaping from the burning building. The fire was first discovered by Officer St. Amour as he was patrolling the street and after turning in the alarm, he went to the residence of the occupants of the building. This was a difficult matter, as the fire started around the chimney at the head of the stairs leading to the tenements on the second floor front.

The blaze gained terrific headway, owing to the wood construction of the block, but by quick work on the part of the entire fire department the fire was out in twenty minutes. The family of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pratt, Jr., occupied the front tenement of the block and the rear one was occupied by the family of Daniel Woskowi, which was burned out recently in the fire in the White block. These families carried no insurance. Webster Lodge, F. & A. M., which occupied the third floor, carried insurance on their furnishings, which were injured by smoke. The store of E. R. Crandall, druggist, and E. Edward Allard, tobacco and billiard store, were drenched by the volume of water poured upon the floor above, the greater loss being to the stock of Mr. Crandall. The first two stories of the building were owned by M. J. Barnes, and were fully insured.

CONVICTS NOT STAMPEDED.

Sit in Chapel of Penitentiary While Stubbish Fire Raged.

Pittsburg, March 14.—Threatened by a fire which would have stricken an ordinary crowd with panic, 800 convicts at the western penitentiary sat quietly yesterday through their Sunday afternoon service with hardly more than a ripple of fear.

Stubbish flames raged in the hoistery factory of the prison, not fifty feet away from the chapel, and the smoke was so thick that electric lights were turned on while Chaplain C. M. Miller continued the exercises.

About half of the 800 had started up, but it was too late to save the occupant of the room. It is supposed he was overcome before he could escape.

He was unmurdered and was employed at a paper mill in Central Falls.

The building was damaged about $500 and the furniture of the tenants suffered chiefly from water.

Pawtucket, R. I., March 14.—Fred Audette, 31 years old, was found dead in his room following a fire, which started in some unexplained manner in the attic of a house at 293 Main street Sunday morning. His father, John Audette, occupied the lower tenement and Arthur Richard lived upstairs with his wife and child. Fred was the only occupant of the attic and went to bed about 11 o'clock. About 2 o'clock Sunday morning Richard heard the crackling of the flames and gave the alarm. It was then too late to save the occupant of the room. It is supposed he was overcome before he could escape.

He was unmurdered and was employed at a paper mill in Central Falls.

The building was damaged about $500 and the furniture of the tenants suffered chiefly from water.

He was unmurdered and was employed at a paper mill in Central Falls.

The building was damaged about $500 and the furniture of the tenants suffered chiefly from water.

HUNGER STRIKE NOT
SO MUCH FEAREDSince Orders to Milkmen, Bakery Drivers, Etc., Were Not Generally Obeyed
in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, March 14.—The central labor union's orders to the milkmen, bakery drivers, ice men and others to quit work until the carmen's strike is settled, was not obeyed generally today, and fears of a hunger strike subsided. The city was quiet today following yesterday's riot. City officials say that half the strikers returned to work today, but the labor leaders deny this and say that still more are coming out. Yesterday's riot took place in Kensington, where, attracted by a fire in a box car on a railway siding, a crowd of several thousand persons collected late in the day. Small boys threw stones at some of the police and later the windows of a number of cars were broken under the reserves got the crowd under control. This was the only outbreak of the day in the street car men's strike. Cars were run without molestation and there were more cars in operation than any Sunday since the strike began. The police and company officials agree in the statement that the situation is improving hourly. The rough element among the strike breakers is being weeded out and a better class of men is now operating the cars.

STANDARD OIL
SUIT ARGUEDTo-day Before U. S. Supreme Court.
On Its Decision Depends the Life of the Sherman Anti-trust Law and Monopolies.

Washington, D. C., March 14.—The government's biggest trust-breaking suit, against the Standard Oil of New Jersey, is to be argued before the United States supreme court late this afternoon. Upon its result depends the life of the Sherman Anti-trust law, as well as the life of the Standard Oil and kindred monopolies. The litigation will involve 37 distinct corporations and John D. and William Rockefeller, Flagler, Aronson, Payne and Charles Pratt as individuals.

BODY LAY IN STATE.

And Was Then Escorted to Train for New York.

Washington, D. C., March 14.—Members of the house committee on foreign affairs, acting as honorary pall bearers, escorted to the Union station here last night the body of Representative James Brock Perkins of Rochester, N. Y. Brief funeral services, conducted by the Rev. Amos Steeds, pastor of the Episcopal church of Rochester, were held at the Perkins home yesterday. Following the services, the body lay in state throughout the afternoon and was viewed by many friends and relatives, including a delegation from Congress. Accompanying the body to Rochester, where it will be buried, were Mrs. Perkins, her sister, Mrs. William A. Kidd of Albany, N. Y., the Rev. Mr. Skelton and Representatives Fassett, Alexander and Driskoll of New York, Dunley of Michigan, Lowden of Illinois and Foster of Vermont.

AUTOIST WAS HELD
FOR MANSLAUGHTERGeorge Simpson, Aged 21, Arrested in Cambridge, Mass., Late Yesterday.
Boy was Killed.

Cambridge, Mass., March 14.—George Simpson, aged 21 years, of Andover, assistant treasurer of the American Woolen company, was placed under arrest here late yesterday, charged with manslaughter, following an accident in which the automobile he owns and was driving, struck Timothy Lane, aged 10 years, causing his death.

The boy was returning home from Sunday school and was struck as the car passed Broadway and Prospect streets in Cambridgeport, his skull being fractured and his neck broken. Simpson was alone in the car. He was taken to the police station, and charged with manslaughter. He is $2,000 was furnished by William M. Wood.

RELIC OF THE PORTLAND.

Life Preserver Picked up on Pleasant
Beach at Cohasset.

Cohasset, Mass., March 14.—The never-to-be-forgotten tragedy of the sea, the sinking of the steamer Portland with all on board somewhere off the New England coast in the winter of 1898 was vividly recalled by many persons here yesterday, when a life preserver that had apparently been on the Portland, was picked up on Pleasant beach.

It was found by Richard Cadden, of this town, while he was walking along the shore. The life preserver was in fairly good condition, considering the fact that it has probably been in the water twelve years.

Although the lettering was well washed, the word "Portland" was plainly discernible, as was the stamp of the government inspector.

This is the first time anything from the steamer Portland has ever been washed ashore here.

ROOSEVELTS MEET TO-DAY.

Ex-President Will Probably Reach Khartown First—To Meet in Private.

Khartoum, March 14.—Colonel Roosevelt and Kermit arrived at Gordon's farm a few miles south of here to-day and will enter the city this afternoon, when he will proceed to the palace of General Wingate, the sister, whom he will meet his wife and daughter, Ethel. The station will be patrolled to enable the Roosevelts to meet in private.

MUST SHOW
THEIR BOOKSDefeat For National Packing Company

IN THE FOOD COST INQUIRY

Judge Swasey To-day Granted Prosecutor Garvin's Demand, and the Grand Jury Will Look the Records Over.

Trenton, N. J., March 14.—The demand of Prosecutor Garvin of Jersey City for the seizure of the directors' meetings of the National Packing company, which Garvin claims, will show that food prices were unnecessarily forced up by the Chicago packers, was granted by Judge Swasey today. The Hudson county grand jury will examine the books for facts on which to dissolve the trust.

FOUND HANGING IN BARN.

Suicide of John Horton Due to Grief
Over Death of His Son.

Brookline, Mass., March 14.—John Horton, aged 47, living at 263 Elliot street, in this city, was found dead, hanging by a window cord from a rafter in the barn adjoining his home, by his wife yesterday. His family later stated to the police that he had probably been driven insane by the death of a much-loved son. He had brooded over this grief for weeks.

Medical Examiner A. E. Paine, who visited the scene, called it suicide by hanging and said Horton had been dead for hours. Horton ate supper Saturday night and then went out. When he failed to appear yesterday morning, the family started a search and his body was found. A wife and two sons survive him.

PAPER COMPANY'S
BID IMPROPERBecause Unaccompanied by Bond, as Required by Law—Application for Writ of Mandamus Dismissed
by Justice Wright.

Washington, D. C., March 14.—Justice Wright of the supreme court of the District of Columbia today dismissed the application for a writ of mandamus made by the Valley Paper company, compelling the committee on printing in Congress to consider its bid for furnishing the paper to the government. While declaring that the court had jurisdiction in the matter, the justice found that the bid of the paper company was improper in form, being unaccompanied by a bond, as the law required.

STRICKEN GOING TO CHURCH.

Rev. J. L. Lapham, Retired Minister,
Dies in Old Orchard, Me.

Old Orchard, Me., March 14.—While preparing to go to church yesterday morning, the Rev. J. L. Lapham, a retired Methodist clergyman, was stricken with heart disease and died. Mr. Lapham, who was 78 years old, remained in active service until 1906, when he completed 45 years' work in the ministry. For six years he was presiding elder of the Portland district. He leaves a wife, a son and a daughter.

FUNERAL DEPRESSED PRESIDENT.

Spent Hour with Wife, Whose Physicians Fear Result of Another Shock.
Washington, D. C., March 14.—President Taft was much depressed when he returned from the Langhams funeral at Pittsburg and spent an hour with his wife before going into the executive office. Mrs. Taft's physicians fear that another shock would prove serious.

PRESIDENT OFF ON TRIP.

To-morrow Night's New York Engagement Canceled—Goes to Chicago.

Washington, D. C., March 14.—President Taft's visit to New York to-morrow night has been canceled and he will go directly to Chicago Wednesday morning, visiting Rochester, Albany, New Haven, Providence and New York on his return.

WATERBURY.

B. K. Roundsville of Boston Spent
Sunday in Town.

Arma Barker is visiting Mrs. Edward Jones in Watford.

Harold Morse is suffering with blood poison in his hand.

Mrs. H. C. Whitehill has been suffering with rheumatism in her foot.

Mrs. Ennis of Montpelier is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Clifton.

The senior class of the high school is arranging for a concert Wednesday evening.

The young people of the Catholic church enjoyed a hay-rack ride Saturday.

Mrs. Philip Shomo has been reappointed superintendent of schools in Duxbury.

The young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Hills has been very ill with indigestion.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Carr of Worcester visited at the home of E. E. Foss over Sunday.

A "seven-cent" social will be held at the home of Mrs. Carolyn Harrison Tuesday evening.

Laura Demeritt is quite comfortable and it is thought her run of scarlet fever will not be severe.

Mrs. Clara Irish, who has been employed at the home of S. C. Wheeler, has gone to Fletcher to work.

JUDGE BINGHAM
DIED EARLY TODAYWas Judge of Probate Court in Chittenden County for a Dozen Years.
Was a Native of Fairfax.

Burlington, March 14.—Judge Marcelus A. Bingham died at 1:50 o'clock this morning of kidney trouble at his home in this city. He had been in failing health for some time, having been confined to his bed for the past four weeks.

Judge Bingham was born in Fairfax, February 21, 1846, son of Benjamin F. and Maria L. (Smalley) Bingham. He obtained his education at a New Hampshire school and at Fairfax, studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1868. He was married at Elmore to Josephine S. Grant, September 28, 1870, and she with one daughter, Miss Ethel Bingham of this city, survive him.

He practiced his profession at Hyde Park, Cambridge and Essex Junction for many years, removing to this city in 1898. He had held the office of state's attorney for Lamoille county, 1869-1874; representative in the legislature from Essex, 1879-81; state's attorney for Chittenden county, 1878-80; state senator from Chittenden county, 1880-82; judge of probate for Chittenden county, since 1898. He was a Republican in politics, a member of the Methodist church, of the Masonic fraternity, of the Knights of Pythias and the Elkanah Allan club.

COMING TO BRANDON.

Rev. C. W. Turner Resigns at Fitchburg, Mass.

Fitchburg, Mass., March 14.—Rev. C. W. Turner, pastor of the First Baptist church, preached his farewell sermon at yesterday morning's service. He tendered his resignation to the deacons last week, but it was kept secret and no public announcement has been made of it as yet to the members of the parish by the pastor. Yesterday, although it was his farewell sermon, he made no reference to his leaving the church, and the deacons have not made any statement in regard to the resignation to the parishioners.

Mr. Turner stated that he had accepted a call to the pastorate of the Baptist church at Brandon, Vt., and will begin his duties there next week. The church at Brandon, he stated, was larger than the one here and gave him a better field for work.

The deacons of the local church will meet some time during the week to take action upon the resignation and to arrange for the calling of a new pastor.

PITIFUL TREATMENT.

Given a Ten Years Old Girl in Burlington.

Burlington, March 14.—Ida Lawrence, the ten years old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lawrence, was sentenced on Saturday in city court to spend the remainder of her minority at the industrial school in Vergennes. She was sentenced for truancy, but there were other conditions that made it advisable for her sentence. Her father was fined on Friday for intoxication and Saturday her mother was arrested on the same charge. The parents admitted that they had given the child gin and water to drink at different times. One day last week the little girl visited a Church street drug store, very much intoxicated. She asked for a drink of strawberry soda and then fell on the floor on her face. The clerks revived her after several minutes and she was taken to her home by a policeman.

Alexander House, aged 14 years, and George St. Peter, 14 years, were taken on Saturday to the industrial school, to serve the remainder of their minority, for truancy.

LESS ADULTERATED FOOD.

Indicated by Quarterly Bulletin of Board of Health.

The quarterly bulletin of the Vermont state board of health for March is at hand. It contains several tables showing the number of specimens examined at the state laboratory of hygiene during the last quarter of 1909. The total number of examinations made during the quarter was 6,122, of which 5,448 were cultures for diphtheria bacilli, 288 of blood for viral reaction, 246 of sputum for tubercle bacilli, 301 of water, 194 of miscellaneous liquids, 184 of foods, 150 of miscellaneous analyses, 112 of milk, and 106 of food.

Three of the 34 samples of milk taken in Burlington were found to be dirty; most of the food samples were correctly labeled and passed examination, although the "pure olive oil" in one can of sardines was found to be cotton seed oil. The labels on certain samples of drugs contained misleading statements, but on the whole the findings seem to indicate a higher quality than was the case prior to the enactment of the pure food law.

"BOBBY II" WON RACE TO-DAY.

Owned by Harry Payne Whitney—Opening Event of Racing Season.

Lincoln, England, March 14.—Harry Payne Whitney's "Bobby II" won the Battray plate stake event to-day in the opening of the racing season.

Dr. MacCallum's Lecture.

The auditorium (seating over 3,000) was filled last night for Dr. MacCallum's lecture on the Mexican disaster. By his pictures and concise explanations, the speaker made vivid the main facts concerning the earthquake. Incidentally, Dr. MacCallum described Italian conditions. Little attention is paid to sanitary precautions. The townships are sewer systems, laundry and drinking supply indiscriminately. The houses and great structures are poorly built of cement and rubble, instead of honest stone and brick. The government was told by one scientist that another worse earthquake would follow, by another that none could follow. The government has heeded the latter and Messina is to be rebuilt as it was before.—The Daily Journal, Devils Lake, N. Dakota.

This lecture will be given at the Presbyterian church on Tuesday evening, March 15, at 8 o'clock.

VERMONT
GETS PLACELeslie Hayford of St. Johnsbury is Lucky One

IS GENERAL SECRETARY

Of North American Civic League for Immigrants and Will Begin His Work on March 17—His Present Position.

Washington, D. C., March 14.—Leslie Hayford of St. Johnsbury, Vermont, has been appointed general secretary of the North American Civic League for Immigrants, and will take up the work on March 17th. For the past two years Mr. Hayford has been a special agent of the immigration commission, of which Senator Dillingham is chairman, and has recently completed an exhaustive report on "Alien Criminality" for the commission. The Civic League for Immigrants is an organization with headquarters in Boston, and a membership which includes prominent men in the principal cities. Its object is the Americanization of recent immigrants and the work will be conducted along educational and other lines. As general secretary, Mr. Hayford's duties will include the organization and direction of the league's work in various parts of the country. The president of the league is Dr. Channing Brewer of Boston and the board of managers includes Frank A. Vanderlip, Jacob Kils, Robert Watson of New York, Cardinal Gibbons, Joseph W. Hollander of Baltimore, Nathan L. Amster, Lucius Tuttle, Samuel B. Capen, Edward H. Haskell, Archbishop Lawrence, Bernard J. Rothwell, Bishop O'Connell, Francis D. Sears of Boston and others.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

Mr. Hayford is a native of Montpelier, Vermont, and was educated at the Montpelier high school and Tufts college; he graduated from the latter institution in 1901. Subsequently he was a teacher in the Philippines for five years, and later studied at the university of Chicago, and for a time was professor of science at Greenville and Tusculum colleges, Tennessee.

UNIONIZE WHOLE CRAFT.

Was Plan of W. T. Shields to Barre
Carpenters' Union.

A well attended special meeting of the local branch of the united brotherhood of carpenters and joiners of America, was held at their hall in the Nichols building Saturday evening, for the purpose of listening to a talk by William T. Shields of Boston, general organizer for the organization. Mr. Shields spoke upon the benefits of unionism in general and to the members of the craft, which made up his audience in particular.

He spoke of the almost wonderful growth in the carpenters' union, saying that its membership had doubled in the past 10 years until at the present time the total membership amounts to over 34,000. The Barre local, he said, has always been a substantial one, although small, and urged the members to try and get the few carpenters, who are not already members, into the organization.

The speaker pointed out the educational advantages of the union and suggested that at least an hour be devoted at each meeting to the discussion of the craft along educational lines. In this he suggested that some members discuss certain phases of building, illustrating the way in which the work should be done by drawings.

Mr. Shields was called to Vermont to settle a difficulty between the Champlain lumber company of Burlington and its workmen and returned to that city yesterday.

BARRE MAN TO SET IT UP.

Matt Haley Gets Big Contract in New York City.